

Premium Executive Search

Access the most powerful leadership network in the world

A woman in a dark blazer is standing at the front of a meeting room, pointing at a whiteboard. She is facing a group of people seated around a long wooden table. The room has large windows on the right side. A large, stylized logo is overlaid on the image, consisting of three curved shapes: a yellow one in the top left, a light blue one in the bottom left, and a darker blue one in the center. The text "Find strong, diverse leaders capable of transforming your organisation" is written in white over the lower part of the image.

Executive Search as it should be

Unlock the potential of your organisation with strong, diverse executive talent. Access the world's most powerful leadership network to find the very best and guarantee 100% placement success.

Executive Search is traditionally undertaken by experienced recruiters – who naturally lack nuanced understanding of your organisational challenges.

Our team have extensive backgrounds in management consultancy – and have worked directly with thousands of senior leaders. The expertise and experience developed whilst helping C-Suite professionals understand and solve their challenges make our team uniquely poised to assess the best leaders for your organisation.

We then supercharge their ability to find better leaders via our unique, artificial intelligence research algorithm.

You will have total visibility of exactly how your executive search campaign progresses through our unique transparent dashboard.

It's executive search as it should always have been

Transform the way you find leaders

Acolyte's approach works. We had a challenging senior hire to identify and within 3 weeks we had been introduced to candidates that were all exactly on brief and shortly after had offered the position to a great candidate.
